IATI Israel's Life Science & Health-Tech Annual Industry Report 2025-26

In cooperation with:

●●● Connecting Israel's Tech EcoSystem

Following the report launch at the successful MIXiii Health-Tech.IL conference, organized and led by IATI, we are proud to present: IATI Israel's Life Sciences and Health-Tech Annual Industry Report 2025-2026.

The report provides the broadest, deepest view of this thriving industry. The continuity, the annual comparison, and the long-term view, all make the Report the most comprehensive take on the Israeli Life Science Industry. We sincerely thank the Israel Innovation Authority for its partnership in preparing this report and its ongoing support of the industry, and Omer Gavish, Partner and Pharmaceuticals & Life Sciences Leader at PwC Israel, for his valuable contribution and continued collaboration.

In 2025, Israel's Health-Tech industry continued to demonstrate remarkable resilience and sustained growth, fueled by breakthroughs in biotechnology, medical devices, and digital health innovation. We welcome you to review the report which will be translated later into a variety of languages.

IATI Foreign Ambassadors Forum (IATI FAF) & IATI VC Committee Quarterly Meeting

IATI held the quarterly meeting of the IATI Foreign Ambassadors Forum (IATI FAF) and the IATI VC & Investment Funds Committee, held under the title: Bridging Global Capital and Israeli Innovation.

This gathering brought together a highly influential group of ambassadors, senior diplomats, and managing partners from Israel's leading venture capital funds, creating a unique platform for strategic dialogue between the international community and Israel's innovation leadership. The discussion focused on the resilience and global positioning of Israel's high-tech industry, the future of AI, and the investment opportunities emerging in Israel during a period of rapid global change.

The meeting featured insightful remarks and perspectives from Shlomo Dovrat (Viola Ventures), Prof. Yoav Shoham (AI21), Eyal Niv (Pitango), Ronen Nir (PSG) and Eden Bar Tal (Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Israel), all of whom contributed to a meaningful and forward-looking discussion.

At IATI, we will continue to serve as a bridge between Israeli innovation and leading international stakeholders, advancing initiatives that create meaningful connections, collaborations, and opportunities for the industry.

iAti Committees & Workgroups Q2 Quarterly Meetings

IATI MNC CEOs Forum Quarterly Meeting

As part of the ongoing activity of IATI's MNC Forum, we held our quarterly meeting at HP Indigo in Kiryat Gat. The meeting included a tour of the HP Indigo site, an outstanding example of a Vertically Integrated company operating in Israel, combining R&D, advanced manufacturing, global operations, and international services.

The main discussion, moderated by Adi Soffer Teeni (Meta), brought together leaders from vertically integrated companies in the IATI MNC Forum, including Ofer Greenberg (Applied Materials), Uri Tadmor (KLA), Noam Zilberstein (HP Indigo), Aviram Sushard and Eran Meir (Philips Electronics), Keren Erlich (Intel), and Igal Gurevich (Teva). The discussion focused on key challenges currently facing these companies, including human capital, supply chain disruptions, business continuity, and the impact of reserve duty obligations.

Alongside these challenges, the meeting highlighted the strategic role of vertically integrated companies as anchors of the Israeli economy and a significant growth engine for Israel's advanced industries, especially during periods of uncertainty.

Thank you to all IATI MNC Forum members for the open and meaningful discussion, shared commitment, and responsible leadership.

IATI HR Global Companies Workgroup Quarterly Meeting

IATI held the quarterly meeting of the HR Global Companies Workgroup at TikTok's Tel Aviv offices.

The meeting featured Anna Pelkin, Head of TikTok Israel, who shared insights on corporate challenges, local site leadership, the connection to HR functions, and TikTok's activity in Israel and globally. We also heard from Katie Kushnir Ventura (Sanofi), who presented a professional session on an upskilling project she is leading at Sanofi Israel.

Thank you to all Workgroup members for the active participation, open discussion, and continued knowledge sharing.

IATI Emerging VC Funds Workgroup

IATI held the first meeting of the IATI Emerging VC Funds Workgroup.

The workgroup aims to create a shared platform for micro-fund leaders in Israel, deepen understanding of their unique challenges, and promote professional dialogue around the sector's needs, opportunities, and barriers. The meeting included an open discussion, with participants sharing insights from the field to help shape future priorities.

We thank all participants and Goldfarb Gross Seligman in Tel Aviv for hosting the meeting.

IATI Legal & Accounting Committee Quarterly Meeting

The quarterly meeting of the IATI Legal & Accounting Committee was held at the Shibolet offices in Tel Aviv, with senior partners from Israel's leading firms.

We hosted Ittai Ben-Zeev, CEO of the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange, who presented on the local and global markets, foreign investor access, and opportunities to expand the Exchange's international potential. Working group leaders shared key updates, followed by an open discussion on legal, financial, and regulatory issues affecting the industry.

We thank all committee members for their engagement, collaboration, and commitment to advancing Israel's ecosystem.

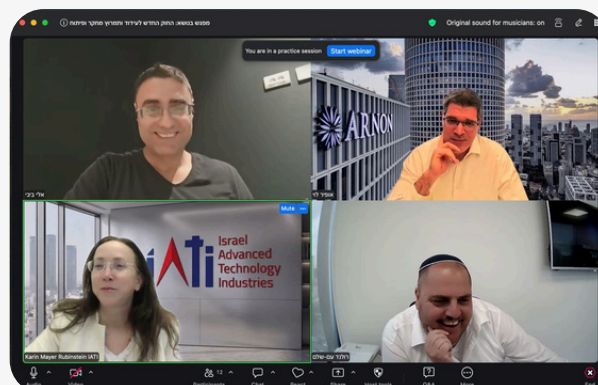

New R&D Incentives Bill Approved & IATI Webinar on Its Impact

The approval of the new law for Encouraging and Incentivizing Research & Development represented a major development for Israel's high-tech industry, advanced industries, and the broader Israeli economy. The legislation established a framework of tax incentives aimed at maintaining Israel's attractiveness for investments and R&D activity by high-tech companies, serving as a critical tool for preserving Israel's competitive advantage in the global arena.

IATI played a central role throughout the legislative process, participating in discussions at the Knesset Finance Committee and involving its professional committees, including the Multinational Companies Forum, the Tax Committee, the Venture Capital Funds Committee, and the Legal & Accounting Committee. Through this work, IATI brought forward the broad perspective of the ecosystem, particularly of multinational companies operating in Israel, to help ensure business certainty and effective incentives for R&D activity.

Following the approval of the law, IATI held a dedicated webinar along with EY and Check Point, to discuss the implications of the new legislation and its expected impact on multinational companies, investors, and Israel's broader innovation ecosystem.

We thank the Ministry of Finance, the Israel Tax Authority, the Israel Innovation Authority, and all professional stakeholders involved in advancing this important legislation, which marks a meaningful step in strengthening Israel's position as a leading destination for global investment and technological activity.

IATI Panel on Negative Migration in High-Tech: How to Retain Entrepreneurs in Israel?

Karin Mayer Rubinstein, CEO and President of IATI, moderated a special panel on negative migration in high-tech at the Annual Bar Association Conference in Eilat, featuring Shai Aharonovich (Israel Tax Authority) alongside IATI members Noam Canetti (EY), Dan Shamgar (Meitar), Adam Fisher (Bessemer Venture Partners), and Yair Geva (Herzog Fox & Neeman).

The panel addressed the growing trend of startups incorporating abroad, critical founder decisions regarding incorporation and intellectual property location, and the role of investors and angels in shaping these decisions. The discussion emphasized the need for collaboration and dialogue between the Tax Authority, Ministry of Finance, and industry to create incentives that ensure Israel remains the economic and managerial hub of the Israeli high-tech sector, with all participants agreeing on the urgency of immediate action to find solutions.

IATI continues to act as a central connector between regulators, industry, and entrepreneurs, aiming to encourage companies to incorporate and maintain their presence in Israel, and to strengthen Israel's positioning as a leading and stable high-tech market.

IATI Interview on Channel 10's Economy Channel

Karin also participated in an interview on Channel 10's Economy Channel to share her insights on the rapidly changing high-tech sector.

The interview covered critical, timely topics, including incorporation of Israeli startups outside of Israel and the impact of the declining USD/ILS exchange rate on the industry.

IATI & TheMarker BioMed Magazine 2026

As part of MIXiii Health-Tech.IL 2026, organized and led by IATI, TheMarker published a dedicated BioMed magazine highlighting the resilience, growth and global relevance of Israel's life science and health-tech industry.

The opening column by Karin Mayer Rubinstein, CEO & President of IATI, and Yaacov Michlin, CEO of BioLight and Chair of the MIXiii Health-Tech.IL Conference, presented the key trends shaping the sector in 2025, including continued investment in life sciences, strong export activity, the establishment of new companies, and the growing importance of digital health and biotech within Israel's innovation ecosystem.

The column also emphasized the launch of IATI's Life Science and Health-Tech Annual Industry Report 2025-26 at MIXiii, the role of the conference as a platform for strategic meetings, exposure to breakthrough technologies and international investors, and IATI's ongoing commitment to strengthening business continuity, industry collaboration and national resilience.
